

WHITE SOX WIN ON BOTH SIDES OF BAY

Fairly Slaughtered Oakland's in Morning and Trim the Seals in Afternoon.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
San Francisco, Cal., March 9.—The White Sox cleaned up to-day artistically and financially. They played games on both sides of the bay and won them both before crowds that would have done credit to some of the big league teams. They trimmed the Seals this afternoon 2 to 2, and fairly slaughtered the champion Oakland's in the morning, 9 to 1. The attendance at the Oakland battle was estimated at between 5,000 and 6,000, and Recreation Park was crowded in the afternoon. The Seals put up a stubborn fight. They were threatening to tie up the score in the ninth, and Left Mordridge had to pitch for all that was in him to avert extra innings or worse. Ed Walsh pitched four innings, and left the coast leaguers with just as many tallies as they had before the game started.

DAY OF ENJOYMENT FOR ATHLETICS

Excursions Made Over Surrounding Country—Wagner Is Last to Arrive.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Augusta, Ga., March 9.—Manager Dahlen allowed his Athletics to enjoy themselves to-day, and as a result, excursions were made by carriage, trolley and automobiles over the surrounding country. None of the players left his quarters at the hotel, however, until after noon, as the four previous days just passed had tired all of them out. There have been no new arrivals since that of Pitcher Wagner late yesterday afternoon. The Southern League recruit has two things very much in his favor for a ball player: one his big build, and the other his name.
After a meeting last night between Manager Dahlen and Ty Cobb the game between the Tigers and Athletics has been postponed until March 17. Invitations will be issued to the Lord Mayor of Belfast, who is visiting his brother here, Mayor Hayne, former President Taft and former Mayor Schrien, of Brooklyn, who is stopping at the same hotel with Mr. Taft.

NEW YORK SQUAD INVADDED BY DEATH

Thomas Hanley, Promising Recruit Pitcher, Dies of Appendicitis.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Marlin, Tex., March 9.—Thomas Hanley, one of the most promising recruit pitchers of the Cleveland squad, died this morning, of appendicitis. For a week Hanley had been suffering with pains in his stomach, and when operated upon yesterday, it was found that he had appendicitis of long standing, and gangrene had set in. Hanley was twenty-four years old, and lived in Marietta, Ohio. He came to the Giants from the Newark, Ohio, club. Hanley's father, who is wealthy, was notified of his son's serious illness and later of his death. The body was shipped to Marietta.
Hanley was very popular with the other players, and his sudden death has cast a gloom over the training camp. Coach Robinson was with Hanley, the other players being in Dallas. McGraw ordered that no expense be spared in caring for the boy and shipping it to his former home.

CULLOP WILL PLAY WITH CLEVELAND

Young Virginia Southpaw Signs After Long Conference With Doyle.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bristol, Va., March 9.—Following a conference of three hours between "Nick" Cullop, the young Virginia southpaw, and Billy Doyle, scout for the Cleveland Americans, in which "Red" Munson, of Bristol, played a conspicuous part, Cullop signed to play with Cleveland at 2 o'clock this morning, and this afternoon went to his home to arrange for a tenant to take charge of his farm. Cullop had practically decided to quit baseball for the life of a farmer, and to that end he had bought a farm, apart from the farm owned by his mother. But now that he has signed with Cleveland, he will go into the American League to coin a fortune. He will leave for the camp at Pensacola on Wednesday.
"I do not intend to be a drone in the American League," said Cullop, "and all I ask is that the management give me a chance to show what I can do."

GIANTS EXPECT TO GET WELL IN LEAD

Men in Splendid Condition, and Pitchers Rounding Into Wonderful Form.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Marlin, March 9.—The game scheduled between the Giants and Dallas to-day was called off on account of rain, and as the manager of the Houston team telegraphed McGraw that the field would not be in condition for to-morrow's game, New York returned to Marlin this afternoon.
With the exception of Hanley's death and minor injuries to one or two players, the camp has served the purpose of getting the men into splendid condition and playing form, which enabled the Giants to get the jump on their rivals last spring. Everyone in the camp feels that while it may not be possible to get as long a run away lead this season, the team will be well to the front by the 1st of July. Practically all of the regular pitchers are rounding into wonderful form. While McGraw has allowed most of them to have their own way in getting their arms in shape, he has devoted much attention to improving their wind. This has been done by means of the daily hand ball games, in which the manager challenges some of the pitching staff.

FRANK CHANCE WILL SPECIALIZE IN SPEED

Puts His Men Through Every Variety of Base-Sliding Craft.

BY W. J. MACBETH.
Hamilton, Bermuda, March 9.—Frank Chance has shown in the week's training here, that he intends to specialize in speed with his New Yorks this season. The peerless leader has several sliding fits in operation and several athletes are forced to spend a considerable time each day in practice on the "fall-away," "split," "scissors" and all other known varieties of the base-sliding craft.
"I am quite satisfied," declared the peerless leader, the other night, "that my club will develop all the necessary hitting power. Two or three clouters of the 300 class should carry any team to victory, provided it is strong in other departments. Fielding, of course, is one of the cardinal virtues, but equally important with either fielding or hitting, is base-running ability."
"When McGraw started last season he showed the league more speed than it has ever seen before on any club. I mean speed in the field—offensively as well as defensively. Why it was almost impossible to drive the ball through the inner line. And when the Giants got on the bases they simply tore around, piling up run after run that would never have developed if the Giants had not been properly schooled on the paths.
"There is nothing like the old wall-on in the pinch, but properly applied speed will cover a multitude of sins. A pass and a steal is as good as a double play any time to base runners who are waiting to be scored. My team has shown me that it has the speed to become a marvelously fast aggregation if it applies itself assiduously to a study of base running. I intend to do all in my power along these lines."
Come to figure it out Chance has a lot of speed. But heretofore it has borne very little fruit. Hal Chase is one of the best base runners in the game. Yet he has never shone particularly in this line except in flashes. Last season he stole about twenty bases inside three weeks. Then he didn't try to steal any more for about a month. No one has the knack of pilfering third down so finely as the Peerless Hal. No one can get a bigger break on the pitchers. Hal slides head first and is so nimble and agile that he can often squirm around a base guardian even if the ball beats him. This slide is dangerous to the runner unless, like Chase, he is unusually active. Hal is scarcely ever injured. Chance believes that Chase will give Cobb and Miller the run of their lives for base-stealing honors if he meets with no injury.
Chance himself was never a champion on the sacks, but he is a head-unner and makes the best of his opportunities. He looks as fast to-day as he has ever been within the past five years and conscientiously believes that he will be able to set a good example. The other infielders are green and inexperienced; Derrick and Priest have both lots of natural speed, and the former seems to be a pretty fair slider. Priest has plenty to learn, however, though he has shown rapid development. Midkiff and Young are earnest enough, though both will have to improve not only on the start, but on the fall away. Hartzell is one of the slowest men on the team.
The outfield possesses great possibilities. Birdie Cree is one of the best runners in the American League.

GOOD RECORD BY YELLOW JACKETS

Basketball Quint Wins Eight Out of Fourteen Games Played.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Ashland, Va., March 9.—The Randolph-Macon basketball quint has finished a very successful season, having won eight out of the fourteen games played. The team won almost every game played with quints that are in its class. The University of Virginia, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Lynchburg Young Men's Christian Association are acknowledged to be above its class.
The season started on December 7, when the Yellow Jackets defeated the quint from Fredericksburg College 24 to 15. This was the only game played before the Christmas holidays, because the first term examinations started the next week, and everything was put aside at this time. On January 10 the team went to Richmond, where it met defeat at the hands of the Richmond Young Men's Christian Association, 24 to 13. The next game was with the Union Theological Seminary, on January 14. This was an easy victory for the local team, the score being 32 to 14. Next came the University of Virginia game. This game was lost, 55 to 12. The Virginia men outweighed the Ashlanders by a great deal.
Richmond College was defeated on January 25, 50 to 13. This game was one of the most important games on the schedule, as the Spiders and Yellow Jackets are rivals of long standing.
The next game of importance was with William and Mary, at Williamsburg, on February 3. The Yellow Jackets were defeated in this game, 42 to 25. At this time the team was in good shape, as Walker was out of the game entirely, and Captain Milligan was suffering from an attack of the grip.
The following week the team went away on a five-day trip, playing five games in five days. Hampton-Sidney was the first met on the trip, and the Yellow Jackets won on February 14, 23 to 18. The Lynchburg Young Men's Christian Association defeated the Ashlanders 51 to 14. This was next to the worst defeat suffered during the season. Randolph-Macon Academy, Roanoke College and the Virginia Polytechnic Institute were the others met on this trip, the Yellow Jackets winning from the first named and losing to the last two colleges.
The last two games played were two of the prettiest basketball games ever witnessed in the local gymnasium. The first of these was with Hampton-Sidney and was played almost to a tie, the score at the end being 17 to 14 in favor of the Yellow Jackets. The other game, the last of the season, was with William and Mary. This was the hardest fought game of the year. The Williamsburg boys had defeated the Yellow Jackets earlier in the season, and the locals were out for revenge. This was not the only thing that spurred on the Yellow Jackets, because if William and Mary should have won this game, that college would also have won the championship of the Eastern Intercollegiate Association. As it was, the Yellow Jackets won by the score of 32 to 22. This tied up the championship series, as each of these two teams had lost one game to the other. An effort was made to play the game at night, but the gymnasium was not suitable place and time could not be agreed upon by both institutions, so the series had to remain a tie.

RED SOX ARRIVE AT HOT SPRINGS
American League Pennant Winners Will Begin Practice To-Day.
Hot Springs, March 9.—All but outfielder Walsh and pitcher Ray Collins are on hand here to-night from the 1912 pennant-winning Red Sox team. Speaker, Hooper, Lewis, Wagner, Gardner, Yerkes, Ball and the youngsters Carlstrom, Janvrin and Scott arrived this afternoon, accompanied by Secretary Riley.
Walsh is being delayed on account of his father's illness.
Stahl did not send any of his players out for practice to-day, but commencing to-morrow he intends to hold a practice session in the morning and afternoon.
Pittsburgh will arrive to-morrow morning and start practice work, which will continue until Sunday, March 16, when the first exhibition game between the Red Sox and the Pirates will be played.
Carey Sends In His Contract.
Pittsburgh, Pa., March 9.—Outfielder Carey, of the Pirates, to-day came to a hold-out and sent his signed contract to Manager Clark. Infielder Bobby Byrne is still holding out, but has announced that he will go on Monday to Hot Springs, where the Pittsburgh team is training.

TWO TOWNS WANT TO JOIN LEAGUE

Appalachian May Be Increased From Six to Eight-Team Circuit.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bristol, Tenn., March 9.—When the directors of the Appalachian League (Class D) meet in Knoxville this week, for the purpose, primarily, of adopting a schedule for the 1913 season, it will be determined whether or not the league is to be increased from a six-team to an eight-team circuit. President Jacob Smith, of the league, announces that he has been advised that the towns of Gadsden and Anniston, Ala., are anxious to be represented in this league. "I am in favor of it," Mr. Smith is quoted as saying. "The fans of the Alabama towns were enthusiastic and as true as steel to their cause in the Southeastern League last season, and I am impressed that those towns would be mighty good company in our league."

If the Alabama teams are voted berths in the Appalachian League this week, the circuit will be composed of teams from the following towns, representing the States—Anniston and Gadsden, Ala.; Rome, Ga.; Cleveland, Knoxville, Johnson City and Bristol, Tenn.; and Middlesboro, Ky.

The league directors will hold a three-day session at Knoxville this week, at which time the schedule will be outlined.
There is much interest throughout the Appalachian League territory, and many "future" fans are anxious to get into league company. Boys in the high schools and colleges are practicing with that in view, and letters of inquiry have been received from youths who are anxious to take a pair course in the "antics" of the game in order to speed into league company.

Billy Doyle, scout for the Cleveland Americans, is a visitor in Bristol, having come here to talk over Appalachian League prospects with his friend, "Red" Munson, the Cincinnati, who is managing the Bristol team of the Appalachians. Doyle hopes to visit the Appalachian circuit frequently during the coming season. When asked if he was here to confer with Cullop, the prize beauty, who is a hold-out, and who should have reported to the Cleveland management two weeks ago, he said that he had not been sent to Bristol for that purpose; that he had no instructions regarding Cullop. "However," he added, "I should like to meet Cullop and talk the situation over with him. I would hope to convince him that his course was a mistake, that he would better sign his contract and hurry to join the club; that to do so would mean much for him."
"Cullop need not fear," he concluded, "that the Cleveland management will not be fair and just with him."
